

Seed Spreaders of Zoo Atlanta

1. Elephants eat several hundred pounds of food a day, and poop several B pounds.
2. Rhinos are essential to the health of their D ecosystems.
3. Zebras are F grazers, cutting through old plant growth with sharp teeth.
4. Pancake tortoises wedge between rocks to H predators.
5. Find Exhibit 35, and the name of the iguana will get you closer to solving this mystery. G
6. A special name for animals like lemurs that only eat fruit. A
7. Gorillas give back to the forest by providing fertilized seed C to the forest floor.
8. The blue-throated macaw, once thought to be I was rediscovered in 1992.
9. The white stork uses its long, sharp E to forage for fish and insects.
10. White storks are found in grassland and J habitats.
- A. frugivore
B. hundred
C. packets
D. grassland
E. bill
F. pioneer
G. Jamaican
H. escape
I. extinct
J. wetland