ABOUT US

Viewed as one of the finest zoological institutions in the U.S. and a proud accredited member of the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA), Zoo Atlanta has a mission to save wildlife and their habitats through conservation, research, education and engaging experiences. From well-known native wildlife to critically endangered species on the brink of extinction, the Zoo offers memorable close encounters with more than 1,000 animals from around the world.

Zoo highlights include giant pandas, including Ya Lun and Xi Lun, a set of twins born to Lun Lun on September 3, 2016; one of North America's largest zoological populations of great apes; and a global center of excellence for the care and study of reptiles and amphibians. Scaly Slimy Spectacular: The Amphibian and Reptile Experience, featuring more than 70 species in a 111,000 square-foot complex, is the world's first LEED Gold-certified reptile and amphibian exhibit. The Zoo's newest experience, Treetop Trail presented by Kaiser Permanente, opened in March 2017. Up-close-and-personal animal experiences include behind-the-scenes Wild Encounters with African elephants, African lions, Aldabra giant tortoises, giant pandas and lemurs. Zoo Atlanta is open daily with the exceptions of Thanksgiving and Christmas Day. Keeper talks, interactive wildlife shows, education programs and special events run year-round. For more information, visit zooatlanta.org.

POINTS OF PRIDE

- Founded in 1889, Zoo Atlanta is the oldest cultural destination in Atlanta and is one of the 10 oldest zoos still in continuous operation in the U.S.
- Zoo Atlanta is one of only three zoos in the U.S. housing giant pandas. Seven cubs have been born at the Zoo: Mei Lan (2006); Xi Lan (2008); Po (2010); twins Mei Lun and Mei Huan (2013); and twins Ya Lun and Xi Lun (2016). Mei Lan, Xi Lan, Po, Mei Lun and Mei Huan now reside in Chengdu, China.
- Zoo Atlanta was recognized in the Association of Zoos and Aquariums' (AZA) International Conservation Award for its longtime partner in gorilla conservation, The Dian Fossey Gorilla Fund International, in 2017.
- Zoo Atlanta received the Quarter Century Award from the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA) in 2016. The award recognizes zoos and aquariums which have maintained the rigorous accreditation standards of AZA for 25 years or more.

- Scaly Slimy Spectacular: The Amphibian and Reptile Experience, opened in 2015, is the world's first LEED Gold-certified reptile and amphibian complex. In its opening year, the complex also won "Top Project in Commercial Construction under $30 Million" from the Construction Management Association of America. Other honors included the Best Project Award in the Cultural/Worship category from ENR Southeast.
- Zoo Atlanta is home to one of the nation's largest zoological population of great apes. Headquartered at Zoo Atlanta, the Great Ape Heart Project is the world's first collaborative effort to understand, diagnose and treat cardiovascular disease in great apes. In 2015, the project earned its second National Leadership Grant from the federal Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS).
- Zoo Atlanta's herpetology collection is one of the foremost in the U.S. and includes hundreds of animals. The Zoo is home to one of the world's only zoological populations of Guatemalan beaded lizards, a rare species believed to number fewer than 200 in the wild, and has been successful in reproducing these lizards.
- Zoo Atlanta President and CEO Raymond B. King was voted "Atlanta's Most Admired Nonprofit CEO" by the Atlanta Business Chronicle for three consecutive years (2016, 2015 and 2014).
- Zoo Atlanta has been recognized among its peers for a commitment to field conservation programs. In recent years, Zoo Atlanta has numbered among only a small fraction of AZA-accredited zoos and aquariums to meet or exceed AZA's goal to encourage member organizations to contribute 3 percent or more of their annual operating budgets to field conservation programs.

CONSERVATION SOCIETY

Conservation Society Members provide critical support to the Zoo's mission and enjoy the opportunity to engage with the animals and staff on a significantly more personal level than the general public.

With a minimum annual commitment of $1,000, individual donors may become members of the Zoo Atlanta Conservation Society. Members are given access to a number of unique experiences, including VIP tours, animal encounters, special events and lectures. It is our hope that members of the Conservation Society feel empowered to be the Zoo's most ardent and passionate advocates within their respective circles, and are continually representing Zoo Atlanta and introducing new potential advocates to the Zoo's mission.
